

Title: Saskatoon Native Women's Association: Metis Oral History Project (1984)³

Interviewers: Brenda Arnault; Victoria Racette; Alma Roy; Judy Thibodeau; Karen Trotchie

Interviewees: 56

Length: 47 hours

Call Nos.: S-643 to S-709

Accession No.: S85-18

The Metis Oral History project was initiated by the Saskatoon Native Women's Association as one of its activities commemorating the 100th anniversary of the 1885 Rebellion. The Association was assisted by the Batoche Centenary Corporation, the Gabriel Dumont Institute and the Saskatchewan Archives. Funding was provided by the Department of the Secretary of State.

The main objectives of the project were: 1. gather historical and cultural oral history and oral tradition relating to the metis group, and; 2. assess the role of women in metis society. Individuals were interviewed in Saskatoon and the surrounding area.

The five interviewers followed a question outline which can be found in the file for Tape S-643. Questions relate to family history, occupations, cultural and community life, rural vs. urban life, religion, race relations, education and politics.

Quality of interviews is generally good and all tapes are summarized. The original tapes have been deposited in the library of the Gabriel Dumont Institute, Regina and copies in the Saskatchewan Archives, Saskatoon.
